TELLS OF ACTIVITIES OF BUREAU OF LABOR

Secretary Wilson Explains Duties of Youngest Department of Government

MANY RAMIFICATIONS

Achievements Accomplished During War Told—Address by Rep. R. W. Moore—Miss Cummings Presides.

An interesting account of the activities of the Department of Labor was given last night in an address delivered by Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson in the Young People's building under the auspices of the Cameron Club. A large audience attended which filled the hall. Among the guests of the club were a number of representatives of the various labor organizations of the city. Miss Helen Norris Cummings, president of the Virginia State Women's Organization work and chairman of the Alexandria Women's Federated Council on Employment, presided, and introduced the speakers. Occupying seats on the stage were a number of prominent club women from Washington and other places.

The act creating the Department of Labor, said Mr. Wilson, was one of the last bills signed by President Taft. This department, he said, is the "baby department" of the government and came into being March 4, 1913. He said he was its first secretary.

The early efforts for the creation of such a bureau were told by the speaker, they dating back as far as 1883 when the department of Commerce and Labor was formed.

Mr. Wilson told of the creation of the children's bureau. Child labor, he declared, is primarily a labor problem. Labor he asserted reaches to all of the ramifications of humanity and the child labor problem is part of the work. Child welfare, said the speaker, is essentially a labor problem and the children's bureau, he said, is performing a wonderful service and will continue to do so. The Immigration Bureau, he said, also has been transferred to the Department of Labor. A review of the work of this branch of the department was given by the speaker. Prior to the war Mr. Wilson said that 1,200,000 immigrants came to the United States annually and 400,000 leave its shores for foreign ports. Immigration, he said is a great economic question. The majority of the immigrants come without funds and turn to our industrial pursuits. They, therefore, are competitors in the market with our workers here.

The naturalization problem also is looked after by this bureau, There is plenty of room in this country to take care of all of the well meaning aliens, said the speaker, but we have not one particle of space for any who come here to destroy our institutions. The department, he said, had been severely criticized on the ground that it has been too lenient with those seeking to overthrow the government. Mr. Wilson said we have the best democratic government on the face of the globe today.

Speaking of the workingmen of this country Mr. Wilson said that with all of the criticism effecting our working men today they produce more than the workers of any other country and that, he said, is responsible for the high standard of living. The method of dealing with the reds in this country was explained by Secretary Wilson. Such as are proven to be anarchists or seeking to overthrow the government this country, he said, has no hesitancy in sending them back, not more than it would in repelling an invading enemy. Work done by the U. S. Employment service was told by the speaker. This department, he explained, facilities the movement of the worker to the job.

Thousands of persons assisted without compensation in tvehranoisTAO out compensation in the various cities throughout the country in this work during the war, he said. The successful efforts in centralizing labor during the war was told by Mr. Wilson.

During the war more than 6,000,000 war workers, he said, were transferred from one part of the country to another and Congress appropriated a revolving fund of $250,000 [illegible] in defraying the epenses of workmen from one place to another and at the close of the war every cent of this fund was turned back into the treasury.

Miss Cummings paid a tribute to the splendid work done by Mrs. T. Clifton Howard of this city, who took charge of the U. S. Employment Service here and also complimented the Camp Humphreys branch on the work done.

Representative R. Walton Moore made a short address in which he expressed himself as in sympathy with the laboring man and with a fair wage, good living conditions and sufficient pay to lay aside a certain part for a "rainy" day.

The speaker also paid a tribute to Mr. Wilson, whom he asserted filled the post of labor commissioner with distinction.

At the conclusion of the meeting the speakers, the visiting clubwomen and members of the Cameron Club were invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Uhler, when Miss Kathrin Griffith Uhler, entertained for the executive board of the club at a delightful reception.

During the evening violin solos were played by Miss Margaret Mansfield and Miss Jacqueline Mansfield, which were greatly enjoyed, particularly the playing of "Dixie."

Miss Virginia Steele, Miss Margaret Paff and Miss Marion Dienelt acted as ushers, later helping the members of the club serve refreshments at the reception.

Sixty Children

Alexandria's Apportionment in Near East Relief Campaign

Alexandria has in her keeping the lives of sixty little children. That is our apportionment in the great Near East campaign which is going on through all our land today. Sixty hungry little children. We are not going to fail them.

It is pointed out by those fostering the campaign that surely there are a hundred of our citizens who are going to give ten dollars to this cause, there are a hundred more who will give five dollars and five hundred who will give one dollar each. That makes two thousand, and our churches, Sunday Schools, fraternal and women organizations, the larger donations for which we hope and the smaller ones for which we are most grateful, will take care of the third thousand. It's as easy as that, and Alexandria will go over the top as triumphantly in this work of mercy as she did in her Red Cross and War Relief drives. But it means that each of us must help. "It is not the will of your Heavenly Father that one of these little ones perish."

Contributions for Near East Relief should be sent to L. H. Dudley, cashier, Alexandria National Bank.

MRS. HARDING HOLDS LEVEE IN HOTEL DINING ROOM

Washington, Jan 25.—Recognized shortly after she had slipped in by a side door accompanied only by her cousin, Mrs. Warren G. Harding, wife of the President-elect was forced to hold an impromptu reception in the dining room of the New Willard Hotel yesterday.

After spending the morning at her home on Wyoming avenue, which she is putting in shape to sell or rent, Mrs. Harding came down town about 1 o'clock with her cousin, Mr. Kling, and slipped into the New Willard for lunch. At her request she was given a corner table and the curtains looking out on Pencock alley were drawn.

Word quickly flashed about the hotel, however, that she was dining there, and between 50 and 60 women and a few men stopped at her table during the hour and a half she was in the dining room.

Rumors of the occupancy of the former Harding home by Vice-President and Mrs. Coolidge were again denied by Mrs. Harding, and it was definitely announced that Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge would occupy the Vice Presidential suite at the New Willard, which is now occupied by Vice President and Mrs. Marshall.

Legless War Veteran Saves Little Girl From Motorcar.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 25.—Bob Steele who lost both legs in the World War, saved the life of a baby girl on the beach here yesterday by pushing his wheeler platform in front of a motorcar to hurt her out of the way. The machine knocked Steele over, but he escaped with slight injuries.

Benefit Supper

To be Given Thursday for Athletic Track of High School

The Parent-Teachers' Association decided some time ago to undertake, for its work this year, to secure funds for the completion of the athletic track at the high school. As is known to some of the citizens, this work was started with an appropriation from council. But the appropriation ran out and the work has been left in a sadly unfinished condition. As a first effort in getting this fund started, an oyster supper will be held in the Westminster Building. Thursday of this week.

If you have any interest in this matter, show it by coming out that evening. The association will appreciate your presence as well as your aid.

HARDING TO TAKE OATH ON STAND LINCOLN USED

Washington, Jan. 25.—The small stand first used at the inauguration of Abraham Lincoln and at every inauguration since, except when William Howard Taft became President, will be used on March 4, when Warren G. Harding takes the oath of office. The exception in the case of Mr. Taft was because the ceremony occurred in the Senate Chamber on account of the weather.

The stand is in the possession of Watson S. Clark, of this city, son of the architect of the Capitol.

FIVE MATCHES SCHEDULED BY VIRGINIA BOXING TEAM

Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 25.—Five boxing matches between the University of Virginia team and pugilists of other South Atlantic colleges and universities have been arranged for the winter program, according to an announcement made by John Clark, of New Orleans, captain of the Virginia boxers and holder of the University's heavyweight title.

Two matches with Cadets of V. M. I., one to be held at the University the first of be held at Lexington the first week in February and the second at the University during the latter part of February, the Virginia boxers will meet the Midshipmen at Annapolis, February 21; and matches with Richmond College and John's Hopkins have been arranged though the dates have not been settled on.

Pop Lannigen is coaching the Virginia scrappers and several promising candidates are out. Besides Captain Clark, the Virginians are well represented in the lightweight class by Dorsey, Turner and Lyle and in the middleweight class by Hubbard.

An attempt to revive the interest in another minor sport has been begun by Bobby Mainfort, local wrestler who coached the Virginia matmen last year. Classes and practices will be held once a week and it is possible that the Virginians may be able to arrange for several matches with other colleges in this sport. Last year the Virginians were victorious in several matches and there is promising material for a team here this season.

BRITAIN WILL MEET ON NAVY REDUCTION

"Ton For Ton and Gun For Gun" Is Expression Used

WOULD EQUALIZE TWO

No Member of British Government Has Voiced Publicly Assent to Such a Program—Won't be Open Session

Washington, Jan. 25.—Confidential information reaching Washington from London in the last few days reveals that the British government, in its present temper, is inclined to meet the United States exactly half way in the matter of naval disarmament. That is to say, England is willing to agree on a reduction policy that will put the British and the United States' navies on an even footing.

This, if events prove it true makes the prospects for disarmament on a large scale very much brighter than the most ardent advocates have dared hope. Heretofore, practically every unofficial opinion that has been obtainable from London has been to the effect that no disarmament that would fail to leave England stronger than any other power on the seas would be considered by that country. Now however, assurances from excellent sources have come to Washington that Great Britain is willing to discuss a mutual reduction policy with the United States that would leave the two powers of as nearly the same strength as it is possible to make them.

"Ton for ton and gun for gun," is the British manner of expressing the proposed equality of the two navies.

No member of the British government has voiced publicly his assent to such a program. But certain of them have said privately that they consider it possible to win British public opinion to such a course, and some of them have even expressed their willingness to attempt it. To any one acquainted with the British feeling toward their navy, this concession has great significance. As recently as a month ago, the British official attitude was a firm refusal to consider any scheme that would leave her supremacy open to question.

It is accepted in Washington that Senator Borah's resolution calling for a conference between England, Japan and the United States will not be adopted by the Senate, in view of intimations from President-Elect Harding that he wishes to handle the question himself when he takes office. What seems likeliest is that Congress will permit the continuance of building under the 1916 program, with the mental reservation that it can be stopped at any time that actual negotiations for disarmament warrant.

If a conference to consider disarmament is convened, it will not be at first, at least, an open session of statesmen reaching conclusions through oratory, but a long-drawn-out series of secret technical discussions between naval experts. Only when these experts have reached a technical basis for agreement, whereby the strength of the various navies can be established, will the negotiators begin openly to arrive at an open covenant. The open sessions will be largely for the purpose of ratifying the work done in secret sessions—much like the open sessions of the peace conference at Versailles.

This is the sort of program that is shaping itself in the minds of the leaders of the incoming administration.

Stone Vanishes

Bears Name of Late Bob Ingersoll and Was at Illinois Capitol

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Considerable speculation has been aroused by the discovery that some mysterious agency has made away with the three ton cornerstone of the Illinois State House, which bore despite protests, the name of Robert G. Ingersoll, the atheist.

When the Capitol was built, in 1868, the cornerstone carried the names of all State officials, including Ingersoll, then Attorney General. Another cornerstone is there today. How it came there, what happened to its predecessor, how so difficult a change could be made, no one seems to know.

From the time the stone was laid say the people of Springfield, lightning made the building its target. Once even before the walls were complete, the stone was moved from its place by a terrific stroke of lightning.

Year after year, it is declared, almost every summer cloud floating over Springfield buried down a bolt at the State House. Old residents declare that each bolt seemed to aim itself at the cornerstone, and that in time the name of Ingersoll was almost effaced.

Finally, in 1905, the zinc covering of the dome was melted so seriously by the incessant lightning attacks that it was replaced with copper sheating.

Recently some one discovered that the plain, unlettered block now at the corner was not the original stone. Common rumor charged a fraternal order with chiseling away the name of the atheist. There was prompt denial of the charge. It was discovered that State Architect Edgar Martin's records do not show a change in cornerstones.

BANDITS GET 15 YEARS

Paterson, N. J., Jan. 25.—Sentences of from eight to fifteen years were imposed by Judge William Watson in court yesterday upon three youthful bandits who pleaded non vult to charges of stealing the $3500 payroll of a dyeing company on December 17. A fourth member of the band escaped with $1,000.

The robbery took place in broad day light. When Miss Jenny Krawitz, the bookkeeper, was making up the envelopes with the pay the men entered the office, and with drawn revolvers covered her and two men in the office while they transferred the envelopes to their pockets. Three were caught after an exciting automobile chase to Clifton and Richfield. They were taken when the pursuers collided with the bandits' machine and overturned it. They recovered $2500 from the three men, but a fourth escaped with $1000.

KENTUCKY GOVERNOR TO INVESTIGATE NIGHT RIDING

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 25.—Governor Morrow planned an investigation of night riding in the Blue Grass tobacco belt of Kentucky, following the appearance of "riders" Saturday night for the first time in years.

Fifteen farmers in Bath and Fleming counties were visited and warned that the selling of their tobacco crop or the planting of a new crop this year would result in the burning of their barns and destruction of other property.

The warnings followed the recent closing of the annual Burley tobacco markets at which unusually low prices were offered farmers for their leaf.

COX STIRS LEADERS OF THE DEMOCRATS

Steps For Reorganization Are Considered as Ex-Governor Arrives

OPPOSES HASTY ACTION

Friends Believe he Will Object to National Committee Meeting or Purpose—Asks for Newspaper Men

Washington, Jan. 25.—With the arrival in Washington of ex-Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, defeated presidential candidate, Democratic leaders are turning their attention to revivification and reorganization of the party.

While Mr. Cox was disinclined to discuss politics, it was learned reliably that he feels that at the present time the party should not embroil itself too strongly. His view is that the Republicans have shouldered the task of performance, and that the public is more interested in seeing what they will do than in listening to Democratic criticisms at this juncture.

Mr. Cox is said to oppose any scheme for a strenuous "rejuvenation" at once, and is likely to offer objection to suggestions that a meeting of the Democratic National Committee be called for this purpose.

It is not to be questioned that Cox intends to exert himself to keep his influence in the party, with an eye on 1924. Like many others among the minority leaders, he feels that the task the Republicans have undertaken is a difficult one, and that they may be riding to a fall.

The trip Mr. Cox will make to Europe, where, he says, he will enter Russia if possible, and in any event will spend all the time necessary to absorb a sound knowledge of conditions and politics, is taken as evidence that Mr. Cox will endeavor to stage a "comeback."

Mr. Cox went at once to the home of T. T. Ansberry, where, with Mrs. Cox, he will remain for the several days he is to spend here. Without a train schedule to maintain, and with no crush of people about him, he was less energetic than during the campaign. He seemed vigorous and alert, however, and inquired by name after a dozen newspaper men with whom he made friends while the campaign was in progress.

The big event during Mr. Cox's sojourn here will be the dinner in his honor by Mr. Ansberry, to which 200 guests have been invited, among them most of the leaders of the party. George White will be present, as well as Homer S. Cummings, his predecessor as national chairman, and numerous Senators, Cabinet members and other officials.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear granddaughter, CARRIE ALICE GRANEY, who joined the angels one year ago today, January 25, 1920.

In the graveyard silently sleeping,
Where the flowers wave,
Lies the one I loved so dearly
In her cold and silent grave.
She is gone but not forgotten,
Never shall her memory fade,
Sweetest thoughts shall always linger
Around the spot where she is laid
One year has passed dear one
I miss you,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they do not know the sorrow
That lies within my heart concealed.

DEMOCRATS IN CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON.

The Republican Press is waxing facetious over the meeting of Democratic leaders in Washington this week to discuss the policies and activities of the party for the immediate future. It is true there was a landslide in 1920 which swept the opposition into power. But that was a temporary reaction almost inevitable after the spiritual exaltation that lifted the world out of materialism and held it suspended in a purer ether for the months of the armistice. History is not a steady progress. It is rather a ceaseless energy of the ethical tides that have borne humanity upon their crest from the beginning of Time. Spiritual tides have their analogy in the physical world. They have their ebb and their flood. The greatest advance of the human soul upon the shores of darkness and ignorance that has ever wrought its impress on the destinies of Man, was achieved in the period immediately following the defeat of the German Empire. The fate of civilization had trembled in the balance for four years, and often it seemed to the weary and disheartened world as if the powers of evil were about to prevail. But when the forces of the American Expedition came, almost miraculously, in their tens and hundreds of thousands, and the tide turned at last—the nations breathed again and rejoiced as one man. It was America's part to cast her lot in war with the purest and most altruistic motives that ever led a country into the devastations of international conflict. It was the part of her president to voice her lofty sentiment and to give utterance to her ideals. It was the Democratic Party who held up his hands and gave him support. It was the Democratic Party who went down to defeat in 1920, bearing its unsullied banner aloft and still fighting the good fight undismayed by the terrific odds. It is the Democratic Party today which stands for the best and noblest in humanity and which will prevail again as sure as that Truth crushed to earth will rise amidst the eternal cycle of years.

A great Virginia orator once said that he would rather be right than president. Another great orator uttered his belief that one on the side of God was a majority. The Democrats in the last election have this consolation. They were on the side of God. A certain Methodist preacher during the last election said that he always asked himself how his Master would vote and tried to vote accordingly.

The whole League of Nations question reduced to its ultimate terms is simply: "shall right prevail or might prevail?" Might never has does not, and never will make right. That is the proposition in a putshell. That s the theory of the League of Nations in one breath. That is what our heroic president has written for, spoken for, fought for—nothing else!

ALEXANDRIA MAN IN FRATERNITY CIRCLES

Williamsburg, Jan. 25.—Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, the largest and oldest fraternity of commerce students in the United States has been formally installed in the College of William and Mary. The installation team, composed of H. B. Lasher, T. W. Gesety and Harold M. Eddy, of New York, completed the ceremonies Saturday.

Fifteen members compose the charter membership in addition to the two honorary members—Dr. Frederick Juchhoff, director of the William and Mary school of business administration and Professor Ralph L. Power, who is a member of Nu Chapter. The Alpha Kappa Psi Diary, in the latest issue, features an article on "Recent Developments in Business Education" by Prof. Power in which he dwells particularly on the status of collegiate schools of business administration in the Southern States.

What Counts in Bread

----Is its purity
----and its nutrition.

Those are the two things that reach the 100 per cent point in CORBY BREAD.

There is scientific supervision of every element entering into the CORBY BREAD formulas. Those who manufacture flour and the other ingredients for bread will agree that we are very scrutinizing---and that their product must measure up to the standard which will permit us to MAINTAIN OUR STANDARD

It has only been since we patented our dough-mixing machines that the FULL GLUTEN STRENGTH of the flour could be developed. You get 100 per cent nutrition in CORBY BREAD because of this---plus the enormous quantities of milk which are used.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. For 17 years he used these tablets (a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil) in his private practice with great success.

They do all the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. No pains, no griping, no injury to the gums or danger from acid foods—yet they stimulate the liver and bowels. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." Note how they clear clouded brain and perk up the spirits. 15c and 30c a box.

Sarepta Lodge of Odd Fellows will confer the third degree of the order on a class of candidates tomorrow night.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Chiefs of police of Virginia, from both large and small cities, will meet in Richmond February 2 to formulate a definite plan for coordinating criminal identification methods to be placed before the next session of the Legislature, it was announced.

Chief of Police Sherry and Detective Sergeant William H. Toler, finger print expert, are collecting data from states and cities which have models police systems for presentation to the convention.

In this connection Chief Sherry declared that the only cities in Virginia having a system of finger prints for criminals are Richmond, Norfolk and Roanoke. The Boston system of water cards, eh said, is in effect only in Richmond, Newport News and Hampton.

The plan which the police here are advocating mostly is for the State to authorize the training of several policeman from each city or county through a course of several weeks in Richmond under the tutelage of Detective Sergeant Toler.

BLACK CAT BRINGS LUCK TO DRIFTING BARGE

Portland, Me., Jan. 25.—Tom, a black cat, was the third member of the crew and brought good luck to the barge Waccamwa, which was towed into this port yesterday by the coast guard cutter Ossipee. Captain Harry Landers and James Coleman, both of Boston, were the others.

Tom did not lose his nerve when the craft broke adrift from the tug Lehigh ten miles off Cape Elizabeth last Monday morning and grinned when the Ossipee picked up the barge 110 miles off Sable Island last night.

Perhaps Tom, who has sailed along the coast with captain Landers for two years, really had nothing to do with it, but his complacent attitude as he stalked with dignified men along the dock last night registered complete conviction that he was responsible for the saving of the barge and for the absence of suffering on board during a drift of 750 miles.

We now have a fine grade of SPLINT LUMP and SPLINT EGG coal on hand and believe it will prove a very satisfactory fuel in many cases where anthracite has been used.

Theeps'n' Work, Priscilla Wooed, Ditto a Poet,'n' He Rhymed O. K.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Priscilla Partridge has put another one over on her wealthy father, A. J. Partridge, real estate dealer. This time she has contracted matrimony, her husband being Lester Cohen, champion poet of the Dill Pickle Club.

Word reached here yesterday and was relayed to California, where her parents are spending the winter, that she and Cohen were married two weeks ago in Greenwich Village, New York city, and were living a sketchy but domestic life somewhere west of Washington Square. It is thought the news will cut short the vacation of her parents and that they will return at once.

Priscilla has been a series of sensations ever since she graduated into the debutante and sub-deb class. Once she went on the stage, but her father snatched her from the footlights. Then she caused society to gasp by accepting a position in a Denver department store.

Meanwhile Lester Cohen, the champion of the many poets and near-poets who inhabit the Dill Pickle Club, that resort of longhaired writers, short-haired pianists and sandaled sculptoresses and sculptors, had risen out of the ordinary by tuning his lyre to sing sympathetically of the cruel deportation of Emma Goldman. Aside from this effort little is known of him. His wife Priscilla announces that she will return to the stage.

Theft He Preached of; That Is What He Got

Wilmington, Del., an. 25.—Worshipers at the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church departed without their overcoats last night after three young men who had listened to a sermon on "What Is Real Religion?" entered the vestry and took with them all the clothing in sight.

The theft was the third which has taken place in the church this month. A curious feature was the fact that the pastor, the Rev. J. R. Sumwalt, spoke of the thefts during his sermon and declared that in a recent visit to the county prison he saw three cells which he "would like to see filled." The 3 young men thereupon arose and entered the vestry as though about to leave the church.

Eighty Penniless Millionaires Have Rich Poorhouse

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Eighty millionaires, or men formerly wealthy who are now penniless, are passing their last days in the most luxurious poor house in the world, the palatial James C. King Club, of Chicago.

This is made possible today by Judge Jesse Baldwin deciding that Gaston B. Means' claims to the $5,000,000 estate of the late James C. King are fraudulent. The King will created the millionaire-paper-club and provided funds for its maintenance.

Membership in the club is restricted to those who were once extremely wealthy. The club building is a palatial million dollar structure.

SHIP LOSES PROPELLER BLADE

New York, Jan. 25.—Add to the mysteries of the sea the tale of the steamer Calamares, which limped in to New York yesterday from Central America ports which one of her propeller blades missing.

Captain, officers and passengers were agreed that it was a rough day on the ocean when last Wednesday the ship began rolling so violently that passengers were thrown out of their deck chairs.

The skipper held to the theory of a submerged volcano, but his passengers clung to the more imaginative guess of the ship bumping over a school of whales. Anyway the propeller blade was carried away during the rumpus.

DENVER ISOLATED BY SNOW

Heaviest Storm of Winter Sweeps Over Region

Denver, Col., Jan. 25.—The heaviest snow storm of the winter embracing many points in the Rocky Mountains regions isolated Denver and other cities from telegraph and telephone communication for a time yesterday.

According to the weather bureau, the storm swept south from Cheyenne, Wyoming, over Colorado, Northern New Mexico and east into Kansas and Central Nebraska, and north to North and South Dakota. The storm center was off Gofland, Kansas.

$10,000 IN JEWELS STOLEN

New York, Jan. 25.—Theft of jewels worth $10,000 from an apartment was reported yesterday several hours after the death of two men by bullets marked the renewed outbreak of crime in New York.

The jewels, which included diamonds, rubies and pearls, were taken by robbers, who "jimmied" a rear door in the apartment. Police are without a clue to the theft.

The body of a man killed yesterday morning while entering a Jamaica store was identified late yesterday as John Joseph Smith, 25, former United States soldier.

Five armed masked bandits held up last night two trolley cars of the Morris County Traction Company between Summit and Springfield, N. J., and robbed the passengers and crews of their money and jewelry. The amount of the loot is not known

SPORTS

After a hard practice at Armory Hall last night both the Virginia Athletic Club and Fitzgerald Council teams are in good condition for their game tonight and the indications are that one of the best games of the season is in store for the basketball fans. Fitzgerald's team will be picked from Tony Crilly, Jeff Williams, Hoy, Lieut. 'Sinner' Hayden, Hasson, Frasca, "Jew" Creegan, Whitestone and Shuman.

The line up of the Virginia's has not been made public as they are dickering with several stars to give all possible strength to their team. The supporters of both teams are expected in large numbers to root for their favorite and as the game will start at 8:15 p. m. it is hoped that those that expect to attend will come early.

REFUSES TO SEE HER; RICH GIRL ENDS LIFE

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Refusal of Louis J. Jacques, son of John E. Jacques, millionaire sugar broker, to keep a rendezvous with Hazel Dewey Rice, 22 year old daughter of Richard J. Rice, wealthy insurance broker, resulted in her dramatic suicide by poison on a street corner late yesterday, police say today.

The girl died in Jacques' arms following his race with death to the corner she telephoned from telling him she had taken poison.

Jacques told police that she had called him earlier in the evening insisting that he visit her. His refusal, he said, was answered by her threat to take her life.

Jacques was released on promise to attend the coroner's inquest today.

HOLD-UP VICTIMS APPRAISED BY GIRL

New York, Jan. 25.—Using a young woman to appraise their would-be victims, taxi bandits have held up two women and a man in Brooklyn and Bayonne, N. J., within the last few days. The police know nothing of the hold-ups, it is said.

The woman, acting in concert with the bandits, loitered around the Newkirk avenue station of the Brighton beach line in Flatbush Wednesday night until Miss Blank, whose name is purposely withheld, emerged. She approached her and asked if she might walk with her.

"There have been so many hold-ups lately that I am afraid to walk alone after dark," the woman, who was well dressed, said. "So may I walk with you as far as you are going?"

Miss Blank said she might. The two women walked together for a block or more in silence, when the strange young woman began a conversation.

"Looks like you would be afraid to wear your jewelry with all those hold-ups going on."

"But I am not wearing any jewelry. I left it at home, and besides, Miss Blank laughed, "they wouldn't get much from me; I have only 5 cents."

As they neared Ocean avenue, a taxicab approaching from the rear drove alongside the curb and stopped opposite the two women. The girl called out to the two men inside:

"Never mind Bill. She's a cheap skate; she's got only a nickel."

And [illegible] walked over to the taxicab and got in. The machine sped away so fast that Miss Blank did not think of getting the number until it was out of sight.

CONVICT WOOED HIS WIFE WHILE WORKING ON ROAD

Culpeper, Va., Jan. 25.—James Young was a highly respected resident of this county by day. He lived with the house of his father-in-law and thought himself free from suspicion. By night, the police say, he went forth on burglary expeditions. They also say he has masqueraded under many aliases and has served time doing road work for the state.

It was while working on the road, it is said, that he met and wooed his present wife, who cared not that he wore stripes to distinguish him from other men nor that he broke rocks because he had formerly broken into other people's buildings. He was united to her soon after being released from the chains that had held him to the State. That was a short time ago.

He was taken by Roanoke officers to that city yesterday morning, where, they say, he is wanted for a new series of burglaries.

Bored By Own Trial, Accused Murdered Sleeps it Out

Mount Holly, N. J., Jan. 25.—Harry Asay, of South Burlington, N. J. charged with killing two men, fell asleep in court yesterday while John Jones, a fellow-prisoner in the Burlington County Jail, where the double murder is alleged to have taken place testified against him.

It is charged that Asay on November 7 last beat W. Harry King, warden of the jail, to death with a poker and then attacked a "trusty," Charles V. Bartlett, and beat him so badly that he died.

TEN KILLED BY OIL BLAST; 20 INJURED

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 25.—Ten negroes dead in the wreckage of their homes, approximately a score injured, some probably fatally, and property damage estimated at $200,000 made up the known toll last night of an explosion of "casing head" gasoline in a tank car at the plant of the Colyar Reese Company, in north Memphis. The blast wrecked a part of the oil plant, leveled a block of frame buildings and shook the entire north end of the city. Of the injured two are white persons—L. C. Scott, superintendent of the Reese plant, and L. C. Wilder, truck superintendent. Both will recover.

Colyar Reese attributed the explosion to spontaneous combustion. The tank car contained 8,000 gallons of gasoline shipped from Kelleyville, Okla. Mr. Reese said it was loaded in a low temperature. When the cap was removed, according to this theory, vapor came in contact with much higher atmospheric conditions here and the explosion followed. Representatives of explosives will arrive tomorrow to determine definitely the cause of the blast.

Most of those killed outright were badly mangled, while several of the injured were so badly burned they died soon after reaching a hospital.

Andrew McKinley, the negro who was removing the dome from the tank car when the explosion occurred, was hurled several hundred feet through the air. He died last night

IRATE WIFE DYNAMITES GAMBLING JOINT

Kittanning, Pa., Jan. 25.—Louis Rosenberger's gambling house here is in ruins as the result of an irate wifes desire to put a stop to her husband's frequenting the place after ten successive nights.

Early yesterday morning, while ten men were gathered about various gaming tables, a dynamite bomb was exploded in one corner of the building, shattering every window, throwing the gamblers to the floor, showering them with broken glass, tearing off the roof and depositing it in the yard and demolishing that corner of the building where it was planted. The occupants of the house narrowly escaped death in the rain of debris.

Local police, although claiming to know the identity of the woman, say it will not be revealed unless the owner of the house insists upon prosecution, in which event he, too, will probably be prosecuted.

The occupants of the house fled in confusion when the blast occurred. Many narrowly escaped being crushed under the roof as it crashed to the ground. The majority of the men are said to have been well known local residents, who frequented the place almost nightly.

Last night the games lasted later than usual, and it is the police theory that the woman suspected of the bombing becoming impatient at her husband's continued absence, either planted the bomb or hired some person to do it.

A time fuse was used, the police determined, which allowed plenty of time for the lighter to escape before the blast occurred. Nearby residents were awakened and many fled into the streets in time to see the occupants of the Rosenberger place, most of the coatless and hatless, fleeing from the scene.

VIRGINIA NEWS

Richmond, Jan. 25.—Governor Westmoreland Davis of Virginia today entered the fight which Virginia civic associations and prominent citizens are making against what is termed in many sources "propaganda" for the dismantlement of the Hampton Roads and other naval bases on the Atlantic Coast.

"Absurd," was the minner in which Governor Davis characterized the recommendation of Admiral Sims, chief of the Naval war college, that all naval bases in the East be consolidated with the one at Narragansett Bay, near Newport, R. I., and summation of such a plant.

The Governor expressed doubt as to there being the slightest chance of Admiral Sims' suggestions being carried out, and declared that if it should become necessary he will use every endeavor to prevent the consummation of such a plan.

Indignation has been rifle through out Virginia and Richmond ever since the proposal was made by the Admiral in an address at Newport. Admiral Sims has been far from the most popular officer in the Navy ever since he started a Senatorial investigation into the activities of the American Navy in British waters during the war, which investigation ended up in about the same relative position in which it started.

In Richmond the Chamber of Commerce, Retail Merchants' Organization and other trade bodies and civic associations have unofficially gone on records denouncing the Admiral's scheme and are expected to pass resolutions at their next meetings condemning such a move.

Resentment against the idea has been openly voiced by Mayor George Ainslie, Harry St. George Tucker, candidate for governor, and a number of other prominent citizens.

The Western Union Telegraph Company today announced their intention of applying to the State Corporation Commission for permission to abolish the maximum state rate of 30 cents for messages within the State of Virginia.

William G. Sale, district commercial superintendent, and a member of national officers of the company called at the offices of the State Corporation Commission yesterday and outlined to Commissioner Forward their plan which will be to base all charges within the state on the system of squares which is used to determine parcel post rates.

Mr. Sale declared that Virginia is one of nine states in the Union which still adheres to the maximum rate system and that efforts are being directed to the public service commission of all these states to have it abolished. Mr. Sale believes it is unjust to charge the same for a message from Norfolk to Richmond as for one from Norfolk to Big Stone Gap.

No increases in the station to station rates will be asked, eh declared.

Scoring the Bristol Gas and Electric Company for their "apparent unwillingness to have their application for increased rates on gas and electric current heard on its merits" the State Corporation Commission yesterday refused the request of that company for a raise in rates.

The erection of a civic clubhouse in Richmond, which will be local headquarters for members of civic associations and business men's clubs from all over Virginia, will be urged tonight at the annual meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association by W. Fleet Kirk, prominenet Richmond merchant.
